The Sinar p MF-L was developed for photographers who want to use the unique advantages and quality features of a Sinar view camera with the Leica S high-end medium format camera. Precise control of perspective and selective sharpness, the most important design elements in photography, are precisely set and assessed on the view camera - all these advantages are now also available to users of the Leica S. This well thought-out solution also experiences a significant increase in quality, as the high-resolution Sinaron lenses developed for digital photography are used.
